

Dear friend,

By now you will hopefully have received your ballot to vote for who will represent our party at the next London Assembly election.

This choice is incredibly important, as you will be deciding who will take over from Caroline Pidgeon – who has chosen to stand down after over a decade of being our liberal voice in City Hall.

I am asking for your support because we need someone with energy, experience, and enthusiasm to lead and inspire teams right across our city.

My record speaks for itself. I have been a council leader, a target seat candidate, and currently work in the NHS.

I want to see our party leading the way to fight for the quality, affordable homes London needs, challenging the damage of Brexit, demanding better for our NHS, and holding the Metropolitan Police to account.

To do this we need to grow our party in all corners of London and if you pick me to lead our team of candidates, I will work tirelessly to ensure we build our Council base and ensure we have a Councillor in every single borough.

I have produced a short video outlining my experience and why I think I am best to lead our team of candidates. Click below to watch it.
